DOMESTIC RABBITS

OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF THE ARBA

The American Rabbits Breeders Association has been dedicated to the promotion, development, and improvement of the domestic rabbit and cavy for over 100 years. We are a membership based organization with approximately 21,000 members worldwide ranging from the pet owner with one rabbit or cavy to the breeder or commercial raiser with several hundred animals. Each aspect of the rabbit and cavy industry, whether it be fancy (for exhibition), as a pet, or for commercial value, is encouraged by our organization.

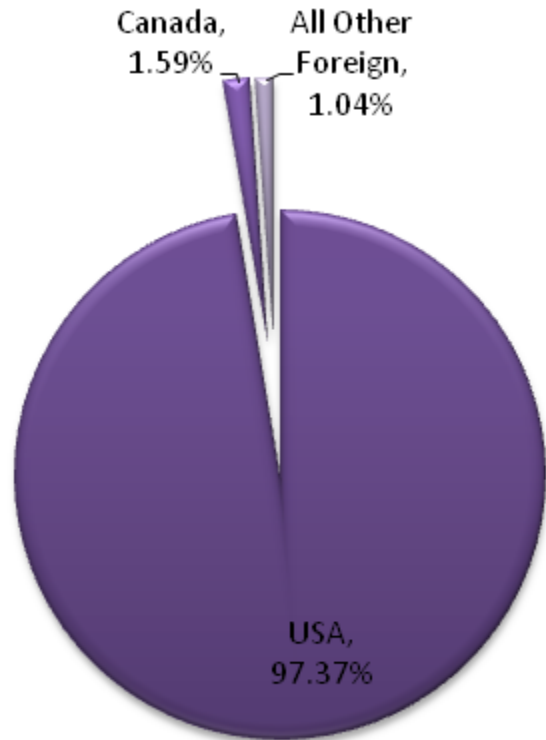

We are the parent organization for over 1,000 national, state, local, and youth clubs which help to educate the public and bring in new members. Those clubs hold approximately 3,000 shows every year.

As part of their membership package, all ARBA members receive the Domestic Rabbits magazine, with the exception of foreign members outside of North America (the magazine is available to them at an additional cost).

The Domestic Rabbits magazine provides our members with pertinent information on rabbits and cavies, including all aspects of rabbit/cavy showing as well as commercial information.

We feature articles about rabbit/cavy health, show information, newly recognized breeds and varieties, reports from industry experts, news from our District Directors and National Specialty Clubs, as well as information on rabbit processing facilities and rabbitry management.
